WSIB INFORMATION FOR MEMBERS DURING COVID-19 PANDEMIC

Greetings Members,

If you contract COVID or feel you may have contracted COVID at the workplace, please complete the attached ERAI (Employees Report of Accident Injury) form - see our website or follow the link: WSIB FORMS and seek medical attention and inform your physician that you believe this is a workplace incident and to submit a WSIB Form on your behalf. Also complete the WSIB Exposure Form on our website or follow the link: WSIB FORMS whenever you feel you have been exposed to COVID at the workplace. Send a copy to WSIB and keep a copy for yourself. If you took your vaccination as a result of the employer's mandatory vaccination and had adverse medical reaction, you can also complete the ERAI, seek medical attention and explain that you only had the vaccination due to the employer's mandatory vaccination and therefore you feel your reaction to the vaccination is work related and ask them to submit medical forms to WSIB. Keep a copy of all documents sent to and received from WSIB for reference, if needed.

If working from home and you have an injury as a result of the work, you should also complete the ERAI form, see our website or follow the link: WSIB FORMS and seek medical attention immediately and inform your physician it happened in the course of working from home carrying out workplace duties. This would include gradual onset injuries such as injuries related to repetitive tasks which we may not be accustomed to performing, or sudden injuries as well.

This link from WSIB WSIB FAQs about claims and COVID-19 will help answer some other questions you may have with regards to WSIB and COVID. If you are denied WSIB or need support with paperwork or challenges with WSIB or if you have any questions around WSIB, please let us know. Take care and stay safe!

If you require further assistance with any of the information as outlined above, please contact:
